Diane C. Cudahy

2009 Distinguished Advising Award

Diane Creitz Cudahy received her B.S. from the College of New Jersey and her Ph.D. from The University of Tennessee Knoxville. She joined the faculty at the College of Charleston in 1996. In 2000, she wrote the grant which culminated in the School of Education, Health and Human Performance being designated a South Carolina Teaching Fellows institution. More than $4,800,000 has been awarded to CofC Fellows.

Dr. Cudahy serves as the director of Teaching Fellows and is an associate professor in the Teacher Education Unit with teaching responsibilities in the foundations of education on the undergraduate and graduate level. She also serves as the program director for a new M.Ed. in Teaching, Learning and Advocacy. Her research interests revolve around the intersection of gender, race and social class issues with public schooling.
