

Guoli Liu
Political Science

2005 Distinguished Research Award

Guoli Liu received his B.A. and M.A. degrees from Peking University and his Ph.D. from the State University of New York at Buffalo. He is currently a Professor of Political Science at the College of Charleston and teaches classes in World Politics, Politics of East Asia, Russian Politics, International Law and Organization, Case Studies in Foreign Policy, and the United States in World Affairs. His research interests include comparative politics and international relations. He is the author of States and Markets: Comparing Japan and Russia (Boulder: Westview Press, 1994) and has edited (with Weixing Chen) New Directions in Chinese Politics for the New Millennium (Lewiston: Edwin Mellen Press, 2002) Chinese Foreign Policy in Transition (New York: Aldine, 2004) and (with Lowell Dittmer) China's Deep Reform: Domestic Politics in Transition (Lanham: Rowman & Littlefield, 2006).